Selectmen's Meeting

AUGUST 28, 1984 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL

SENIOR VAN CONTRACT OFFICIALLY SIGNED

Now that the contract has been officially signed between Selectmen and Coastline Elderly Services, Inc., all that awaits the use of the new Council on Aging van is registration, lettering and driver training.

Charles Sisson, acting Director of Coastline, represented that agency in signing the contract last Tuesday. The contract will become effective September 1, 1984 and continue in effect unless terminated in accordance with the agreement.

Because the new van is larger than the present one, the contract calls for the driver to have CPR and First Aid qulifications, sensitivity training and a good basic knowledge of driving a van with wheelchair passengers.

Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta noted that John Hall, one of the present drivers, has had CPR training which he took on his own. Selectman James F. Huntoon said we may be able to get some volunteer drivers from the Rescue Squad as they all have had the necessary training.

Anyone who feels they can qualify and would like to drive the senior van may submit their names to either the Selectmen or the Council on Aging.

The new van will have wheelchair service with the person being kept in the wheelchair in the van securely locked onto the floor and not removed to a seat. However, certain persons will be allowed to move from a wheelchair to a seat with permission from one in authority.

Sisson said that Mattapoisett is the only municipality in the area to have a grant approved for a senior van. He said, "This is because Mattapoisett was able to justify having its own van based on its type of use and the number of hours of use." Sisson explained the van will be used from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday (except on holidays) for the Nutrition Program, transportation to shopping malls and short trips out-of-town.

The Selectmen and Sisson were agreeable to having the vehicle use maximized by allowing other town departments to use it after the senior service hours are completed.

Sisson explained that several other towns applied but did not display maximum use of the van. Coastline Elderly Services received two vans which, Sisson said, will be used to transport patients to medical facilities in Providence and Boston.

Both Sisson and Selectmen emphasized that Harold Roeder was the "moving force" between the town and Coastline and should be commended for his efforts. Sisson commented, "It is fortunate we have someone like Harold to work for this van for the town." Roeder was unable to be present because he was supervising a senior bus trip to Canada.

Some minor changes in the contract included the wording "garaging" of the vehicle. Selectmen informed Sisson the van would be "stored" safely in the well-lit parking area adjacent to the police station; this was agreeable to both parties. A two-way radio will be installed in the new van, said DeCosta. It was agreed this minor addition did not need to be spelled out in the contract.

If a customer rents a converter, the rates will not change. The Economy Service will increase from $6. to $8. per month, and Basic, from $8. to $10. per month. This will affect 65 percent of the subscribers' base; the other 35 percent who lease control converters will pay $10.95 per month for basic service.

GAVE PERMISSION to MacLean's Seafood of Fairhaven to pump seawater from the Mattapoisett harbor for use in the store's lobster tanks.

The request explained there will be only a small quantity pumped for about a half-hour at the town docks. The truck doing the pumping will be identified as belonging to MacLean's. The board was assured "there will be absolutely nothing discharged".

The Selectmen felt townspeople deserved an explanation of the pumping and that they (the selectmen) approved the action. Selectman Frank Suzan expressed a thought, "I wonder what's wrong with Fairhaven harbor water?"

Report..."The tendencies of the times are such that greater and greater burdens are being placed upon the public schools. With the decline of authority in the home and on the street, the difficulties of school management are increasing. The influence of the so-called 'soft pedagogy' has led to a feeling among children that they must be pleased at any cost, and not a few adults are yielding to the tendency to deprive the American boy or girl of their rugged right to obey and respect authority, and to meet with conquering pride a few character forming obstacles."

This quote is from the Town Report of Mattapoisett for the year of 1903 and written by Superintendent Frank M. Marsh 81 years ago!!

REPRESENTATIVE

...HE'S DONE THE JOB FOR HIS DISTRICT...

Some Politicians Talk about Problems. Walter Silveira Works to Find Solutions

The Old Rochester Regional School needed repairs. Everyone agreed on that fact.

The question was how to get the repairs done without destroying the letter or spirit of Proposition 2 1/2.

The answer was not easy. But with hard work and imagination, State Representative Walter Silveira helped find an answer.

Working with state officials and local representatives from the school district, Representative Silveira helped negotiate a $150,000 commitment from the state.

So the end result is O.R.R. gets its money and Proposition 2 1/2 remains secure.

OLD ROCHESTER REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL JAZZ ORROCK BAND IN ANNUAL WHALING CITY CYCLING PRO-AM PARADE

On Saturday, August 25th, members of the Old Rochester Regional High School Jazz ORRRock Band took part in the Second Annual Whaling City Pro-Am Parade. They rode and enthusiastically played on a forty foot long flatbed tractor trailer provided by Seaboard Express of North Dartmouth through the efforts of Friends of Old Rochester Music (F.O.R.M.) and Mr. Fred Roth, promoter. A portable electrical generator was provided for their use by Mr. Kenneth Watjen, proprietor of Georgie's Power Equipment of North Dartmouth.

The parade featured world class and U.S. Olympic medal cyclists; and Bobby Orr, formerly of the Bruins Hockey Team, as Grand Marshall. It was estimated that 25,000 to 30,000 spectators, on a picture-perfect day, lined the parade route from Buttonwood Park, down Union Street to Merrill's Wharf in New Bedford, making the parade one of the largest attended in recent years.

Playing Politics

That's what Rep. Walter Silveira Jr. said House Speaker Thomas W. McGee did when McGee fought rule changes Silveira proposed.

It's also what Rep. Walter Silveira Jr. said when the House Committee on Bills in Third Reading wouldn't release a bill to fund costly repairs on Old Rochester Regional High School.

It's also what Rep. Walter Silveira Jr. blamed for the failure of the Old Rochester Regional School District to qualify for $15 million in emergency state aid.

Rep. Silveira sure knows a lot about playing politics ?

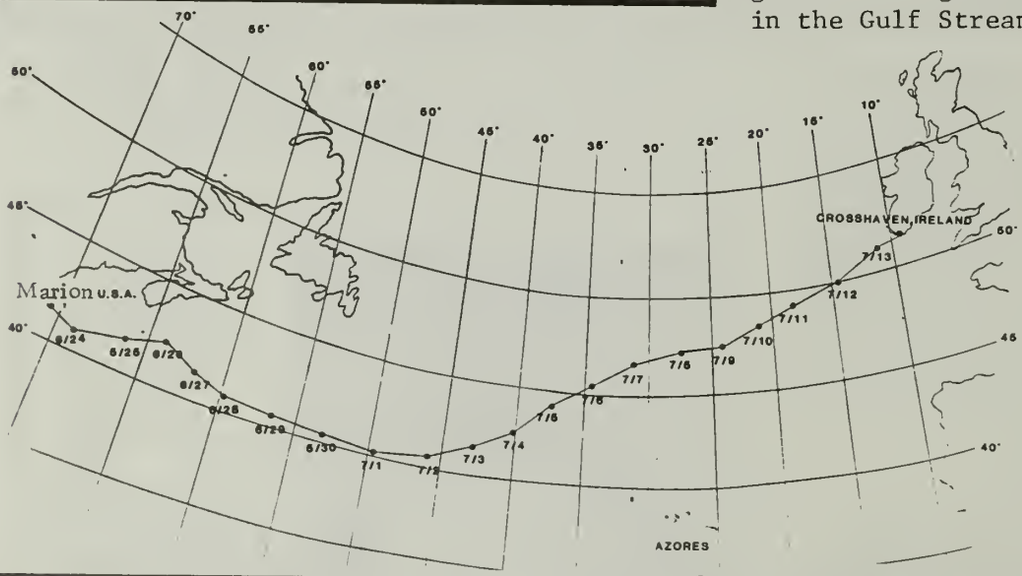
From "Curlew"'s Captain

TO THE EDITOR

I would like to thank you for the coverage you gave me and my crew during our Trans-Atlantic crossing in my short-rigged Tarton 38, "Curlew".

Enclosed is a great circle chart which shows our actual course during the trip from Marion to Crosshaven, Ireland, some 2,582 nautical miles. We left on June 23, 1984 and arrived 20 days 17.5 hours later. Our average speed was 5.73 knots giving an average of 137.5 miles a day, with our greatest single daily mileage of 170 miles in the Gulf Stream where we were carrying storm sails.



Our first three days were into headwinds. On Tuesday, June 26th, we experienced a sudden 6 hour storm with winds over 48 knots. This lasted 6 hours from 06:00 to 12:00. (Mainland experienced this storm as a violent hailstorm on Monday June 25th.) Waves during this storm built to 30 feet, but "Curlew", under storm jib only, handled it well. We first worked to windward on our course to Ireland, but as the waves built up, we sheeted the jib close to our center line and used various maneuvers from heading up, reaching, to running.

"Curlew" has a heavier mast than usual and a deep fin keel. Her ballast to displacement ratio is above .6:1 which makes her stiff. Add the weight of the mast, which gives her added roll inertia, and you have a very good sea boat which can take more than her crew! She performed well and got us through that storm. We were all very glad to have it end.

The weather then improved and on Thursday, June 28th, we tested the ENDECO Free Fall C.T.D. The instrument was deployed in beautifully calm conditions at 40° 46.4'N Latitude 60° 03.0'W Longitude in 440 meters (14,436 ft.) water depth. We gained valuable handling, deployment and hydrodynamic stability and drag data on the vehicle and gained valuable experience at full ocean depths on the acoustic tracking system, but the release mechanism failed to operate properly and the vehicle impacted the bottom after a 10 minute dive at about 10:30.

This was certainly a loss, but we had learned a lot and it was lucky we lightened ship, for the days to come! Such a loss can be expected in any such involved development. We have deduced what failed and our development of this product proceeds.

After the test we immediately proceeded on our way to Crosshaven. Most of our total trip was under very reduced sail. Often we just carried our storm jib and were making up to 7.5 knots.

We experienced a number of gales which passed to Northwest of us. They sent out waves which, mixed with our local wind driven waves, formed a cross chop which made for very uncomfortable sailing.

We actually used our .75 oz spinnaker only 2 hours and our 150% #1 jib for half a day! There was very little real ocean cruising weather.

The ocean provided us with many pleasures of nature, porpoise, bioluminescence, pilot whales, new types of birds, exquisite rainbows, etc. We only saw one sailing yacht with all yellow sails. We think she was one of the OSTAR single-handed yachts. She was under safe and comfortable sail about 2 days from Newport, but nobody was on deck.

We had worried about the southern advance of icebergs this early summer, but when we got to 40°N 45°W, we were informed by our meteorologist, Bob Rice of Weather Services Corp., that our planned great circle track was clear. This was a great relief for us since it shortened our trip by allowing us to head straight for Crosshaven. As it turned out, it would have been impossible to see icebergs at night with the mist and darkness we experienced each night in the subject area.

We were surprised by how few merchant ships we saw in mid-ocean. Of the 4 we saw, 3 responded with weather and ice information by

VHF radio. One asked us to say 'Hello' to the girls in Cork at the bars! (Cork has 200 bars!)

We had a fair amount of electronic gear aboard. It was a very harsh environment for this type of equipment since the rough conditions generated much spray and at times, breakers would land on deck. This water would naturally find its way below. Luckily Speery Sails had made me a vinyl cover to go over most all of the gear. This prevented many disasters. Even so, we did have failures in our weather facsimile machine and the Satellite Navigator.

The loss of the satellite navigator and being out of range of Loran-C stations immediately forced me to use celestial navigation. I am glad, because it is a remarkable system which gives great pleasure when you come up with a "fix" with such a simple instrument.

Our landfall in Ireland was a great event after so many days at sea. We could sense we were nearing land well offshore. New birds, such as gannets, appeared. The absolute pristine air and sea of the open North Atlantic took on a new smell which is hard to define. It was faint, but we knew land life was ahead. We came in on Ireland without a flaw and passed Fastnet Rock at sunset. Before breakfast the next morning we were at the dock at Crosshaven. During the night we had experienced less and less waves as we followed along a deep shoreline under the lee. The wind died and we were under power. Our crossing slowly blurred into a single block of time and the events which had taken our utmost concentration and physical energy lost definition.

We had done something we had dreamed of for years. We were all humbled by the never ceasing power of the ocean. We had a much better understanding of God.

I had a wonderful crew which added so much to the trip. Jim Bonney, Charlie Dana and Dave Shonting demonstrated their ability as very fine sailors and shipmates.

It was great fun to cruise for a few weeks in Southern Ireland and England. We were proud to carry the Stars and Sripes on our stern to foreign lands. We met many wonderful people and we look forward to seeing the West Coast of Scotland next summer.

Your write-up, the send-off we received and the reception and interest in our trip is flattering and I thank you. The trip has certainly been done before, but now we are much wiser and humbler than before. However, my excitement over the ocean will never cease.

Sincerely yours,
Edward C. Brainard II

Tobey Hospital

RE-OPENS MATERNITY UNIT

Mr. Charles S. Kinney, Administrator of Tobey Hospital, has announced the re-opening of the hospital's maternity unit which has undergone extensive renovations and refurbishing over the last few months.

Following the departure of three staff obstetricians last May, the hospital conducted a feasibility study to determine whether to continue to offer the service of obstetrics at Tobey. The study included a survey of new parents who overwhelmingly responded in favor of retaining the services. As a result of the study, the decision was made to recruit new physicians and to renovate the entire unit to include the addition of a birthing room which is scheduled to be ready in October pending approval of the plans by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

The personalized and skillful nursing care rendered new mothers and their babies at Tobey will abide as it has over the last 43 years in the redecorated and modernized facility.

The recruitment of physicians for the service continues and has resulted in the appointment of Dr. Michael Finegold, Obstetrician and Gynecologist, to the Tobey Medical Staff on August 1st.

The newly renovated facility saw its first newborn delivered on August 21st at 5:30 a.m. A 9 pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Soares of 4 Cowan Street in Fairhaven. On the following day at 10:30 a.m. a baby girl, weighing 8 pounds, 2½ ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis LaPlante of Plymouth. Dr. Finegold was the attending physician. In celebration of the unit re-opening, the hospital awarded a gift of a car seat to the parents of the first two babies born.

It is in response to the pleas of prospective parents in the area that Tobey Hospital proudly continues its obstetrical service. The maternity nursing staff and Dr. Finegold have expressed their delight with the changes to the unit. "The maternity wing is a happy place in the hospital setting," remarked one of the nurses, "and our new unit is decorated to reflect that feeling."

of Sandwich, through October 14th. Meet the artist at the gallery this Thursday, September 6th, at 2 p.m.

The exhibit presents more than seventy-five original works, many in color, some never shown before; others which have appeared in national syndication. Chosen to coincide with the Presidential election year, Jones' art depicts political, sports and entertainment celebrities with a sharp emphasis on weak and exaggerated features.

Taylor Jones, thirty-one years old and forty pounds underweight, has lived in such diverse places as Long Island, Iowa, Mississippi, West Virginia, and, now, Staten Island, New York. He worked as an intern for the Delta Democrat-Times in Greenville, Mississippi in 1974. Later that year, he was hired as second cartoonist for the Charleston (West Virginia) Gazette, where he worked until 1981. His cartoons are distributed nationally by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

Members of the Reagan administration and their Democratic Party opposition are included among the caricatures. Konstantin Chernenko, Henry Kissinger, Margaret Thatcher, Muammar Kaddafi, and Leonid Brezhnev may also be found. Fernando Valenzuela, Wayne Gretzky, Mary Decker and Larry Bird represent the world of sports. Michael Jackson, complete with glove, Boy George, Vanessa Williams and Jane Fonda stand in for entertainment and popular culture. Five drawings are called "un-Audubons".

Thirty-nine caricatures, one for each of the U. S. Presidents, make this exhibition a really capital show. The Presidents are on loan to the exhibit from a Charleston, West Virginia collector. These works were published as a book, Add-Verse to Presidents, by Dembner Books. Each Chief Executive has been remembered with poetry by

Memorial Society

Recent newspaper articles about the high cost of dying, and the plight of children faced with the expense of burying a mother without resources to pay for the kind of funeral they wanted for her, made me wonder how many people would not be "turned off" by the thought of death if they stopped to think of their funeral as probably the third largest expenditure they will make, after buying a home and a car. We don't buy a house or a car hastily, under emotional stress, and we don't leave it to someone who may not know our choice, needs, or financial situation.

You may think that the insurance you purchased many years ago is sufficient to cover the funeral expenses, but have you checked it against current costs? If you care about your family or whoever will be in charge when you die, you may want to join the Memorial Society of Greater New Bedford, Inc. and receive help in planning for your funeral and related matters.

The New Bedford Society, one of 176 in the United States, was started in 1977 by a group of concerned church members who felt there were alternatives to the expensive traditional funerals promoted by some morticians. Simplicity and dignity besides economy were considered the primary concerns in funeral pre-planning. The Society serves from the Fall River area to Wareham. Funeral directors in the area were asked to be "co-operating funeral homes". Those who agreed quoted their prices of simple cremations and burial services which are shared with members. Also the Society furnishes state and national laws, and information about cemetery plots, requirements and grave opening expenses. With this knowledge members may visit several funeral homes to discuss their plans and receive itemized costs of the services provided.

Other advantages of being a member include suggestions of funeral or memorial services, information about organ donations or body donation to a medical school, a sample of a Living Will, and Hospice services to the terminally ill. More important, the Society provides help with putting one's house in order: having a will, and listing one's assets and pertinent information together in a readily available place.

The Memorial Society is a non-profit, educational, consumer oriented service to all people, run entirely by volunteers. Therefore, there is a one-time fee to join which covers the cost of materials. In-

Calligraphy Exhibit

An exhibition of calligraphy, titled "From A to Z", by artists of the Lettering Arts Guild of Boston will be shown in the Gallery of Southeastern Massachusetts University from September 4-27. The Gallery, located in the College of Visual and Performing Arts (Group VI) Building, is open weekdays from noon to 5 p.m.

The 26 artists of the guild create fine calligraphic works for exhibit in museums and galleries and, commercially, design book covers, advertising, publications, and signage. Several of them teach calligraphy, the art of "beautiful writing", in Boston schools.

Co-sponsor of the exhibit is the Southeastern Massachusetts Letterworks, an organization which promotes fine lettering in the area. It was created two years ago in response to a growing interest in the art as indicated by the many courses in calligraphy now given by Bristol Community College, Southeastern Massachusetts University and area Y's.

There will be an opening reception in the SMU Gallery on September 9th from 2 to 6 p.m.

For more information call the SMU Design Department at 999-8568.

To increase program effectiveness, Bristol Community College has added the critical element of experience. Course instructors are selected for their business experience, professional expertise, and presentation skills. The combination of superior course content and quality instruction results in a high quality program.

The certificate program has been designed especially for individuals seeking increased opportunity, career advancement, and greater knowledge of management skills.

This semester's courses are First Line Management (10/23 - 12/3), Getting Results with MBO's (10/25-12/6), Accounting for Managers (9/5-10/17) and Leadership Skills for Executives (9/4-10/9).

To earn the Certificate in Management, students are required to satisfactorily complete six of twelve courses offered. The student may take any six courses in any order. Each course is 18 hours in length and meets for three hours a week over a six-week period. In addition to a Certificate in Management, Bristol Community College will award a Certificate of Achievement and Continuing Education Units (CEU's) for the completion of each individual course.

SERO®
SHIRTMAKERS

The last of the great shirtmakers.

Every part of a Sero shirt shows why we're known as the last of the great shirtmakers. Take for instance our Purist® button-down collar shown above. It's famous for its full bell-shaped roll. We take many extra steps, all done by hand, to create that collar. No one else makes a collar with such care and attention. But, then again, no one else makes a shirt like Sero does.

Well-Bred Simplicity

Ms. Sero blends the luxury of a soft Superfine herringbone twill with the elegant styling of a portrait perfect blouse. The matching self tie forms a delicate sculptured accent to the three-button high neckband.

Ms. SERO®

Pleating Pleasure

A novelty stitch pleating adds prominence anew to this deftly-tailored Ms. Sero blouse. Crisply-designed with a stylish cutaway collar. The perfect complement to your Fall outfit in 100% cotton broadcloth or 60% cotton, 40% polyester fabrics
